Gas price hike warned

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Gulf Oil Corp. president James E. Lee says the price of gasoline could go up seven to eight cents a gallon if price controls on "old" oil end Sept. 1.

However, he said, offsetting factors such as the proposed elimination of tariffs, the elimination of entitlements, and a competitive market place will result in an increase for Gulf of only two to three cents per gallon for all its refined products — if President Ford vetoes, as expected, an extension of the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act.

At a news conference Thursday, Lee avoided discussing what Gulf's price plans or intentions will be in the event of Ford's expected veto, except to say the company will act "responsibly."

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today brought to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat the Israeli terms for an interim peace pact to avert a new Middle East war. He pronounced himself "reasonably hopeful" of success.

Kissinger told reporters aboard the jet that brought him from Jerusalem and two days of violent anti-Kissinger and anti-government demonstrations that the proposed agreement presents "an understandable dilemma for Israel" but is in their best interests.

Hopes for any quick overall Middle East settlement received a severe setback today in Damascus when Syria and Jordan — two of the countries Kissinger will visit on this trip — announced formation of a joint command to coordinate their armies against Israel and call on the Arab world to reject any new Israeli-Egyptian interim agreement.

Upon arriving at his guest residence, the palace of Ras El-Fin-

In this Egyptian summer capital, Kissinger told reporters:

"I am hopeful. I hope I can meet Sadat in a little while. We will review the state of negotiations and will spare no effort to bring them to a successful conclusion. I am reasonably hopeful at this time."

He and Sadat were meeting at 7 p.m. (noon EDT) for an evening of talks and private dining.

A senior U.S. official in the Kissinger party told reporters the secretary planned to hear Sadat's terms for the interim peace pact and match them against those he got earlier today in a nearly five hour talk with Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin in Jerusalem.

In each session of the shuttle diplomacy — aimed at blocking what Kissinger believes is the galloping danger of a new Arab-Israeli war — Kissinger acted as the negotiator. Hearing Rabin's terms, he explained what Sadat would counter with

With Sadat, Kissinger explained the Israeli side.

The American showed none of the gloom that overcame him when the March attempt to oversee a new Israel-Egyptian agreement collapsed. The belligerent taunts of Jerusalem demonstrators screaming "Kissinger Go Home!" left no apparent psychological scar.

Aboard the plane, he said, "It is an understandable dilemma for Israelis. But once Israelis look at the whole context of events they will see them in perspective."

Kissinger flew by helicopter from Jananik Airbase to Ras el-Tin Palace for talks with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi before his meeting with Sadat. With him on the aircraft were his wife Nancy, Fahmi and Fahmi's wife Ara.

Asked by reporters if violent right-wing demonstrations against his mission Thursday night in Israel caused him concern, Kissinger replied, "You forget, I come from Harvard and I'm used to them."

Elvis' swivel slows

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Elvis Presley, whose famed swivel hips have been a little pudgy lately, is 40 years old, overweight and exhausted.

He canceled a two-week engagement in Las Vegas this week after three days and reserved room at the Baptist Hospital today for treatment of fatigue, according to his doctors.

Condominiums popular

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millions of Americans have turned to condominiums and cooperative housing units since 1970 while construction of single family homes has stagnated.

According to a condominium and cooperative housing study released Thursday by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, about four million Americans now live in about 1.69 million condominium and cooperative units.

The number of condominiums have increased 15-fold since 1970 to about 1.25 million units. There were about 70,000 cooperative units built during the same period.

Guerrillas bomb warship

LA PLATA, Argentina (UPI) — Leftist guerrillas dynamited a warship being outfitted at Argentina's naval shipyard today, and the vessel was reported sinking at its mooring.

Police sources said a blast rocked the Santisima Trinidad, a missile-carrying frigate, early this morning. The sources said explosives had been planted in the ship's engine room by the Montoneros, a leftist Peronist guerrilla group.

The vessel was in the final stages of preparation at the shipyard and was being equipped with ultramodern equipment.

Civil war blazes

MACAO (UPI) — Fierce fighting between two rival factions today claimed at least five lives in Dili, capital of Portuguese Timor, where Portugal's effective control has dwindled to a small neutral area in the middle of a civil war.

A special communiqué from Dili, relayed to this Portuguese enclave on the Chinese mainland by the only existing radio link, said 30 persons were injured and several buildings burned down in the latest fighting.

Baker counts self out

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said Thursday he had "no illusions" about becoming President Ford's vice presidential candidate and said he expected Nelson Rockefeller to retain the spot.

"It's flattering I guess and exciting to be talked of in those terms, but it is also a political no man's land," Baker told a news conference.

Hospital deaths probed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Investigators are probing the possibility a killer has been giving a deadly muscle-relaxing drug to patients at a Veterans Administration Hospital.

During a recent three-week period, 41 cases of respiratory arrests — total cessation of breathing — were reported, including eight deaths.

Hospital officials said the incidents may have been caused by a muscle-relaxing drug possibly related to the South American poison curare.

Coffee crop hurt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A freeze in Brazil may cut the 1975-76 coffee crop by more than 50 per cent and also have a long-range effect on the crop the following year, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

Retail coffee price increases in the United States already have occurred although the 1975-76 harvest begins in May of next year.

The announcements were based on a report from a team of Agriculture Department experts who toured major Brazilian coffee-producing regions, affected by a July freeze.

Henry delivers Israeli terms

COMBINES REAP a golden harvest of wheat on the Lyle Jones farm east of Twin Falls on Kimberly Road. The yield on Jones' farm is reported to be running about 100 bushels per acre, compared to an average of about 80 bushels per acre and some high yields of 120 and 130 bushels in the county. Grain harvest is well underway and some farmers are combining beans as well. Cutting and baling of the second cutting of hay is about complete.

Couple awarded $150,000

TWIN FALLS — A Fifth Judicial District Court Jury awarded a Hazelton couple $150,000 in damages as a result of a 1973 traffic accident.

Veri and Lillian Hinton brought suit against Eddy Bakertes, a Delaware headquartered firm; General Host Corp., New York, and James Arnold Steen, Twin Falls, after the vehicle driven by Lillian Hinton and a bakery truck driven by Steen collided on Addison Avenue East Sept. 4, 1973.

Mrs. Hinton charged negligence on the part of Steen whose vehicle collided with the rear of her auto as both were traveling west.

As a result of injuries the plaintiffs stated Mrs. Hinton required special treatment and surgery including bone grafting. She suffered a "close fracture" of the left femur, the complaint states. The couple asked $100,000 general damage plus medical costs and other relief from the court.

The plaintiffs were represented by Lloyd Webb and Monte Carlson.

Shelter home to switch

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Living Center manager L.J. Ettinger said starting today the home will be operated as a boarding house to avoid problem as an unlicensed shelter home.

At the same time, Twin Falls County Pro. Atty. William Hollifield said he had decided to wait 30 days before taking legal action against the shelter home for not meeting certain fire code requirements.

Apparently no such prosecution is necessary if the home is classified as a boarding house.

State Health and Welfare officials dealing with the case were unavailable for further comment this morning.

Ettinger said the 30-day stint as a boarding house would provide time for installation of at least three solid-core doors and more than one-half of the required fire alarm system. The deficiencies had prevented the home from being licensed.

At the end of the 30-day period, Ettinger said, a re-application would be made for a shelter home license.

HAW officials have said if these improvements were made, they would "look favorably" at the re-application, Ettinger said.

Apparently, the change in status reportedly will not affect state funding for the individuals now in the shelter home. Boarding house reimbursement levels were recently raised to a maximum of $20 per month, according to Theo Murdoch, in the Twin Falls HAW office.

Shelter home reimbursements are at the same level, $20 monthly, Murdoch said.

The Health and Welfare Department had denied the shelter home a license because of deficiencies in fire safety equipment. But Dr. John Ashley, health officer for HAW, said Thursday the state "will not push for prosecution" to shut down the home.

The home has been operating without a license since May, 1974, currently houses 17 physically or mentally handicapped adults.

Ettinger, who took over the shelter home operation from previous operator Duff Brown, said he felt the prosecutor was "under pressure" from individuals in the county who want to close down the home.

He added if the change in status from shelter home to boarding house affected reimbursements made by the state to the handicapped residents, he "may reconsider" the closure.

Improvements which could meet the state's favor could be completed within the 30-day period, Ettinger said, at which time the home would again be designated as a shelter home if a temporary license were issued.

Syria, Jordan slap peace plan

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI) — Syria and Jordan announced today they had established a joint command to coordinate their armies against Israel and called on the Arab world to reject any compromise settlement worked out by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

The two countries issued a joint communiqué in which they asked all Arab nations to marshal their military machine against and reject partial peace settlements.

They sharply criticized Kissinger's attempt to negotiate a Sino-Arab agreement between Egypt and Israel and said "events have shown there is no alternative except military force and preparedness" in confronting Israel.

The announcement of the Jordan-Syrian Supreme Command Council, as it will be named, and the sharp criticism of Kissinger's current shuttle mission came at the end of a four-day visit to Syria by King Hussein of Jordan.

Hussein and Syrian President Hafez Assad rejected the notion that the Sinai settlement Kissinger is now trying to seal between Egypt and Israel will help promote peace in the Middle East.

They said only an Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories on their frontiers as well as Egypt's could do that. They said only a militarily strong Arab nation could guarantee such a withdrawal.

Portugal Reds open fire

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Communists opened fire on a crowd in the northern city of Braganza today, wounding several persons and bringing negotiations-a-day-long meeting with rulers of an independent coup to an abrupt halt.

In Lisbon, President Francisco da Costa Gomes met separately with American Ambassador Frank Carlucci and British ambassadors Nigel Trench to discuss Portugal's worsening political crisis and the deluge of rumors about a coup.

Police said the Braganza violence was triggered by a small, homemade bomb that wrecked one room in a communist-owned budding. A crowd gathered and police said the Communists opened fire, wounding four or five persons, two critically.

Police said they had to evacuate the Communists from the building and that the Communists were beaten by the crowd as they ran with police for protection to a local military base. The crowd then ransacked the building and turned its contents into a street bonfire.

Troops were called in to control the mob, but returned to their base when the crowd objected.

The clash broke a two-day lull in the anti-Communist violence that has swept Portugal in the past five weeks. Six persons have been killed and more than 330 injured in the clashes.

Before meeting the two envoys, Costa Gomes held a private session with Communist Party leader Alvaro Cunhal, who placed his militants on alert during the night in response to what he called a "coup in preparation."

Goncalves, whose pro-Communist policies promoted widespread violence and the current confrontation within the three main factions of the armed forces, spent the morning preparing for an afternoon cabinet session.

One of the rumors was swept Lisbon was that Goncalves had gone to a local naval base for protection, but this was officially denied by the Information Ministry Thursday night and again by the prime minister's office when it opened at its normal time today.

Military sources said the moderates appeared to have the army behind them while the pro-Communists depended on the navy and marines. The air force was said to be divided.

Military sources said both sides in the confrontation, which has arrayed the moderates far left against the pro-Communists in the military, were polling individual units on their loyalties.

The older Baixa took him to Casal Memorial Hospital, Burley. He was transferred from there to Pocatello for the surgery.

TF school bus routes change

TWIN FALLS — Rezoning of the Twin Falls School District has been caused many changes in bus routes from last year, according to Richard Kirkman of Kirkman Brothers Inc.

He said 21 of the district's 28 routes have been changed. All students who live within one and a half miles of the school they attend will walk to school, he said.

The schedule includes: Bleckel school: Bus No. 12 will pick up students from the east side of Highway 74 for one mile and Bus No. 11 will pick up pupils at the labor camp.

Harrison Elementary: Bus No. 3 and No. 18 will go to Harrison this year instead of Lincoln.

Lincoln Elementary: Students who rode Bus No. 13 (from the hospital area) will walk this year. Bus No. 1 will pick up students on the west side of Washington Street and all junior high students. Bus No. 17 will go to Lincoln this year instead of Bleckel.

Morningside Elementary: Bus No. 6 will pick up second trip of Bus No. 12 at about the same time, but will be going to the opposite direction. Students on Elizabeth Boulevard will walk to the bus stop on Tolman Road. Bus No. 12 will pick up No. 6 Eldridge trip.

Sawtooth Elementary: Students within one and one-half mile radius will walk to school. Bus No. 5 and Bus No. 20 will go to Sawtooth this year instead of Morningside.

Robert Sturt Junior High: Students in the high school area will walk to Cascade Park and be transported to Robert Sturt by bus, starting at about 8:15 a.m.

Vera C. O'Leary Junior High Bus No. 9 will pick up students living on the east side of Blue Lakes.

National office

MRS. PAUL BROWN, FILER, was elected national vice president of the American Legion Auxiliary Wednesday at the group's national convention in Minneapolis, Minn. She will serve a one-year term as the second highest official of the million-member organization.

TWIN FALLS — The state planner has called for revisions in a proposed Twin Falls City-County comprehensive land-use plan.

In a letter to city and county officials, planner Lee Ray Mickelson, attached to the Bureau of State Planning and Community Affairs, called for additions and simplification of language in the comprehensive plan proposed by the Twin Falls City-County Joint Planning Council.

Mickelson's letter followed a three-day stay in Twin Falls at the end of July during which he reviewed the proposed plan and city-county land-use problems.

In the letter, Mickelson offered the following suggestions for revisions in the plan:

— Revise the text to include all plan components specified in the Local Planning Act of 1975 as passed by the last legislature.

"The (present) draft includes most components by combining several components into one chapter," Mickelson wrote. "However, separate chapters for each of the plan components would be advisable. Those components that are not specifically provided for are hazardous areas, natural resources, special areas or sites, community design and implementation."

— Consistent use of terminology in outlining goals and policy objectives.

"You may consider some rewriting of the stated goals and objectives to a concise citizen-oriented statement," Mickelson wrote. "Clear and precise statements are much easier to read and understand."

— Use of graphics, maps and illustrations to augment the text. "This aids to separate and break up the monotonous written material and clarifies many things that could not otherwise be stated clearly," he wrote.

Inclusion in the plan text of a method for adopting the plan by each of the municipalities and political jurisdictions in the county.

"I would encourage a provision within the comprehensive plan text that outlines the method of adopting the plan by each of the jurisdictions within Twin Falls County," Mickelson wrote.

Mickelson also suggested a separate section be prepared for each county jurisdiction.

Mickelson also raised the question of planning and zoning authority within the county and in so doing called for identification of areas of city impact within the county as called for in the Idaho Code.

"In this manner, you may select to appoint a planning or zoning commission or combined planning and zoning commission within the areas of city impact," he wrote.

Finally, Mickelson called for compilation of maps to backup the comprehensive plan.

"The least comprehensive mapping needs are: four city and fringe areas, six built-up areas, and the remaining county — total of 11 maps," he wrote.

Mickelson also congratulated the Twin Falls City-County Joint Planning Council on its work thus far on a plan.

"It appears that your staff is at the point of finalizing a draft comprehensive plan and land-use maps for each of the jurisdictions within Twin Falls County," Mickelson wrote.

The joint planning council announced two weeks ago a decision to open a booth at the upcoming county fair to present material thus far compiled and written on a comprehensive plan to the public.

Horse enthusiasts stop in MV en route to Oregon

BUIL — A group of Nebraska and Illinois horse enthusiasts moved through Magic Valley Thursday en route to Oregon City, Ore., and the ending of the Oregon Trail.

Calling themselves the Oregon Tail Riders, the seven are traveling on purchased Arabian horses from Independence, Mo., to Oregon City in their own private observance of the bicentennial.

Ron Carter, spokesman for the group, and his wife Alyce are from Genesis III. Others are from Nebraska and include Allen Maybee, Lincoln, the trail ride coordinator, and his 13-year-old son, Chuck, youngest of the party. Jean Jerry, Hyannis, Neb.; Jim Quinn, Lakeside, and Cher Hummel, an English teacher from Scotts Bluff, complete the party.

In addition to the six horses, there is a truck which carries camping supplies, feed for the horses, extra clothing and supplies. There is also "Bo," the Australian shepherd dog who is walking most of the way except when they find rest stops.

Carter says the group hopes to reach the trail's end by Sept. 15 as some of the party must return to school.

Carter said the party carries two cameras, one for color and one for black and white film. They each keep diaries, and will work with the University of Nebraska in compiling a book on modern day Oregon Trail travel at the conclusion of the trip. They also send two articles per week back to their hometown newspapers along with sketches drawn by Allen Maybee, an artist.

Carter says the group has seen some beautiful country through the western states. One night they camped in snow at the 9,000-foot level near the Continental Divide and saw the ridge from which streams deadend to east and west drainage. Other days they rode through 100 to 105-degree temperatures, starting at 3 a.m. and stopping to rest from noon until dark to protect the horses and riders.

The trailriders are on the move six days a week and rest on Sundays.

Along the way the group camps out with the horses, usually beside the roadway or on a farm or ranch when they can find convenient host. They spent the night on a farm west of Twin Falls Wednesday night.

Carter says the group hopes to reach the trail's end by Sept. 15 as some of the party must return to school.

Carter said the party carries

When policemen turn-to-extortion

There are all kinds of extortion, but a strike by policemen and firemen is one of the worst.

Policemen and firemen are held in respect because of the life-saving nature of their work. To some extent, their role is similar to that of a doctor. Society needs them.

But what happens when a policeman or a fireman goes on strike? People needlessly will be killed and injured through preventable crime and fires.

The threat to withhold lifesaving service is extortion, with life and property loss the threat.

There is no good way to deal with an extortionist. But the only sure rule is to remove his incentive by preventing him from profiting from his act. To give in is to provide additional incentive for further extortion.

Faced with such extortion from striking policemen and firemen, the City of San Francisco gave in.

San Francisco policemen struck. In return, they received an inflationary wage raise of more than 13 percent.

Average policeman and fireman pay and benefits will cost the city nearly $30,000 a year.

Apparently San Francisco's finest have found a sure path to success. Crime.

There is little doubt that further police strikes there and in other cities lie ahead as police imitate criminals to increase their income.

Crime pays until somebody stops the criminal.

The appearance of Henry Kissinger at the United Nations on the first or second of September promises to be a diplomatic extravaganza for the Secretary of State and the Ford Administration. There is a real chance for peace between Egypt and Israel, apparently so close at hand that Secretary Kissinger is being dispatched to the Middle East by President Ford to renew shuttle diplomacy between Cairo and Jerusalem.

What the Secretary of State is expected to bring back for presentation at the United Nations is an interim agreement that will bind Egypt to at least three years of peace in the Sinai desert in exchange for an Israeli withdrawal from military positions now safeguarding the southern flank of the Jewish state.

As we see it, the peace agreement that is at hand stems mainly from Cairo's assurances to Washington that it is giving up a 20-year role of active belligerency against the state of Israel and will devote its main energies toward the creation of a better society for the Egyptian people.

Castro hints at new ties with Latin America

© N.Y. Times Service

HAVANA — In the last few days, Fidel Castro has been showing President Echeverria of Mexico around Cuba, talking about the importance of fish, the breeding of milk cows, and the health and the education of the Cuban people.

A visiting reporter, tagging along, finds it the vaguest idea of what they said in private about the changing relations of the Americas and the mysteries of the Communist world, but it is fairly clear here that the emphasis is on the maintenance, and what Castro calls the "institutionalizing" of the Cuban revolution.

The first party congress of Cuban Communists will be held in Havana next December. A draft constitution has been published and is now being debated in factories, farms, and party bloc meetings throughout the island. In the inner port of Havana and along the northern seashore highway of Cuba Tuesday, billboards proclaimed the following:

"We must be prepared for most important, decisive, and responsible meeting of our party and the republic." This reference to the first party congress is said to be the main business of the "committees for the defense of the revolution" with headquarters in every city block, apartment house, and institution in the nation.

Castro took his visitors first into a developing fishing complex in the inner Havana docks. Here were large machine shops equipped with Soviet machinery, and partly supervised by Soviet technicians, and modern storage and freezing warehouses. The developing Cuban fishing industry, which is said to have increased the supply and consumption of fish ten fold in the last decade, was financed mainly by the Soviet Union, Japan and Spain.

Incidentally, the inner harbor here was as naked of security guards or guns as Baltimore's, and no restrictions were placed on newspaper photographers anywhere in the harbor.

On the northern coastal road between Havana and Picadura, an hour from Havana, there was a small oil-drilling complex and at least the smell of oil, but Castro made no claims of any significant production there or anywhere else on the island or in its surrounding seas.

At Picadura, Castro and Echeverria turned off the sea road into the spectacularly beautiful valley where there is a 65,000 hectare (195,000 acre) cattle breeding station run by Castro's brother Ramon.

In most of the major countries of Latin America, the vast bloated and polluted cities dominate and destroy the national life, but Castro's pride and priority are in the countryside.

He must have put more money into this cattle genetic experimental station in the last few years than into any single enterprise in Havana. Unlike the capital, which looks much shabbier than seven years ago, this showplace, devoted to making Canadian cattle produce as much milk in the tropics as they do on the cool Canadian plains, gleamed like a modern New York hospital.

And this seemed to transform Castro. He led the parade through the stalls, telling his bewildered guests more than they could even understand about the sex life of cattle, and then drove his jeep at the head of the parade over this immense spread until they waded in the scorching sun.

He was cautious, however, about claiming that the cost of this experiment had yet been justified by results, but he is bringing new breeds of cattle from all over the world, and is clearly determined to prove that this station, with its agricultural scientists and its modern hilltop guest house and helicopter landing pads, will one day add substantially to the health of the Cuban people.

Meanwhile, like everybody else these days, he is fighting worldwide inflation. He is in a relatively good position for the time being because of the recent soaring prices of sugar on the world market. Nonessential goods are scarce and expensive — a bottle of beer and even a moderate sized Cuban cigar cost $1.20 apiece — but essential foods, like milk, while still rationed, are pegged at reasonable prices.

At least his enthusiastic and friendly discussion with the Mexican president indicated that he is showing new interest in trading and exchanging technological and scientific information with the rest of Latin America, and this is a change from the days when his main export to Latin America was revolution.

None of this course, changes the most obvious fact, that he has hitched Cuba's economy to the Soviet Union and the East European bloc.

And is still relying on a subsidy from Moscow that is said to continue at $1 million a day, but with the development of better relations between the United States and the USSR, there is always the possibility that this subsidy might one day be reduced or even withdrawn, and by then, higher production in Cuba, and better relations with the Western Hemisphere could mean more to him than ever before.

Other opinions

Houston Chronicle

The planned price increases in the news — steel, aluminum, autos — are of a nature that is a surefire sign of the inflationary tendency and psychology that apparently still grip the country.

A common thread runs in these industries: There isn't all that much demand for their product to seemingly justify higher prices.

In this kind of buyer's market the normal rule of thumb is certainly not price hikes; price cuts, in fact, are a normal prescription.

Saving face

Laird at issue with Ford over arms control

© Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON — Former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has taken issue again with his old friend and former House colleague, President Ford, on arms control agreements with the Russians.

Laird has flatly described as "ridiculous" any claim that U.S. bases in Turkey are essential to monitor violations of any accord to impose further limits on strategic nuclear weapons.

With table-pounding emphasis, Laird told newsmen that American national interests cannot be protected if this nation has to depend upon third countries in order to verify Soviet adherence to an arms agreement.

"We have adequate national means" to determine violations, Laird said, adding that he had made that plain when he testified before congressional committees on the problems involved in arms negotiations with the Russians.

President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger have repeatedly derided the congressional embargo on arms shipments to Turkey, which led that country to close American bases used to monitor Soviet military movements not covered by SALT.

Even after Laird's session with reporters Ford reiterated his concern about the bases in Turkey in a speech before the American Legion in Minneapolis.

He strongly implied that the "ultimate security" of the United States was involved in dispute with Turkey over the congressional embargo and the base closings, and he asked:

"How do you justify to the American people the loss of strategic intelligence data with its always 'ridiculous' to claim that the Turkish bases were necessary to monitor possible SALT violations. He was equally emphatic in arguing that the United States could not rely upon third countries to safeguard its national interests.

Laird, an international consultant to Reader's Digest magazine and a member of an informal group of old friends and associates that sometimes advise Ford, charged in an article that the Russians had "violated" SALT I prohibitions against radar tests. The President denied the charge.

Laird also appeared somewhat at odds with the Ford administration in his appraisal of Soviet intervention in Portugal. He said the U.S. government has taken the position that there has been "substantial interference" by the Russians in the communist effort to take over Portugal.

Officially and publicly, the U.S. position as expressed by Ford and Kissinger has been one of warning the Russians not to pursue a policy of selective detente. In his Minneapolis speech, Ford echoed a recent statement Kissinger made in an Alabama speech by linking Soviet behavior with the recent 35-nation summit meeting in Helsinki, Finland, in which the participants pledged not to intervene in the internal affairs of other nations.

"We are now carefully watching some serious situations for indications of the Soviet attitude toward detente and cooperation in European security," the President said. "The situation in Portugal is one of them."

Sen. Lloyd Benson, D-Tex., an avowed presidential candidate, said recently he had been told by CIA officials that the Russians were spending $10 million a month in Portugal. State Department officials tended to dismiss the figure as an exaggeration, although a top CIA official supported the Benson claim.

Laird, in an interview with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt in the September issue of Reader's Digest, quoted Schmidt as saying "Portugal must not be lost as a partner in the Western Alliance" and adding that "we must not permit the pursuit of detente to erode our will to take whatever action may be necessary to defend our vital interests."

Laird said Schmidt had "left open" the question of whether military force should be used to save Portugal, if necessary. However, Laird said Portugal was "a European problem," that the atmosphere among the American people and Congress precluded any U.S. intervention.

Recognition of realities US policy thrust

© N.Y. Times Service

TEL AVIV — The main thrust of United States policy at this critical stage of Middle East peacemaking is concentrated on persuading Israel to take a long-range view of history and of its own role.

This, according to the American viewpoint, involves recognition of certain world realities that have nothing to do with tactical vantage points along either interim or ultimate frontiers.

Washington is convinced that the present is likely to be the best moment for years to come in which to arrange an accommodation. As the State Department sees it, the existing leadership in key Arab states including Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia and Jordan may well be the wisest and most reasonable one can imagine during the conceivable future.

Moreover, the United States believes Moscow is in a more helpful frame of mind than it was this spring, when Secretary Kissinger was frustrated on a similar attempt of shuttle diplomacy. Washington insists the Kremlin is scared stiff that the whole area may blow up again if substantial progress toward settlement is not achieved this year — perhaps this summer.

For these reasons Kissinger pressed Israel to be more accommodating than it originally desired. While it has long been public knowledge that American policy goals remain truly based on U.N. Resolution 232, American diplomatic methods currently wish to avoid throwing the Middle East problem back to a reconvened Geneva Conference.

This is the crucial argument Kissinger has been employing above all with Israel and Egypt. He pointed out time and again that if another Geneva meeting wound up in stalemate, no one would know where to go from there.

The secretary has consequently done all formula now. This is a principal reason for his current round of personal diplomacy and for the very strong pressure applied on Jerusalem seeking to insure success in advance.

Preliminary negotiations preceding

C.L. LISAGOR

Kissinger's new trip went through tense and even ugly phases. Some Israelis complained that the secretary, a Jew, was trying to "betray" them. His rebuttal was, in effect, that no U.S. administration could risk depression, trouble with Japan and Europe, or another confrontation with Russia, all because of Israel's oddity.

"THINK OF IT AS URBAN DETENTE"

President Ford became personally irritated with Premier Rubin. He felt that the Israeli chief of government had misled him at one moment when Rubin indicated he was prepared to settle for a new line at the eastern end of the Sinai passes and then transmitted documents showing he meant the central part. For a time, Ford concluded he could not rely on Rubin.

During recent weeks of the Washington negotiations which preceded the Kissinger decision to return here, the United States demanded that Israel view the realities of the outer world "objectively." The Israeli's reply more than once: "We won't die for other people's oil."

Nevertheless, Washington insisted that that was an unjust oversimplification; Israel policy had to take into account the entire international outlook, not just its own place in the eastern Mediterranean.

What one may now anticipate, with the arrival of Kissinger, is another perceptible step toward formal peace, a condition in which Israel would not just be facto armistice lines. But the shape of such peace, either geographically or politically, is not discernable — only the road leading to it.

For example, it is not a sure thing that the United States would guarantee Israel militarily as part of the eventual settlement. Ford apparently is not convinced Congress would stand for such a precise long-term commitment or that U.S. public opinion equates Israel's importance with petroleum resources on which the Western world and Japan so heavily rely.

Therefore, even as peacemaking resumes, key questions still remain to be answered. If

Egypt and Israel do eventually reach accord, what will be done with East Jerusalem, which Israel swears to hold, which Saudi Arabia wants returned to Arab rule, and where the Palestinians have exacted out King Hussein of Jordan as a major factor? What will be done about the Golan Heights to gain a Syrian competent?

And finally, with Washington contemplating the possibility of avoiding an ironclad guarantee to Israel, how can this little state, shorn of its hard-won military strong point, insure itself except by being ever more massively ready for instant war? And is that a firm foundation for peace?

Genealogy seminar planned

TWIN FALLS — A four-state priesthood genealogy seminar is planned for Aug. 29 and 30 at the Twin Falls Stake Center, Maurice Street North, Twin Falls.

The seminar will open at 1:30 p.m. with a general assembly and those attending will have opportunity to attend a one-hour class on use of the branch genealogy library, responsibility of priesthood leaders, source materials for beginning genealogists, note keeping and correspondence filing and family history.

Other seminar subjects being offered include orientation to basic genealogy course I, family organization, American research, role of the ward record examiner, teaching of genealogy for youth, orientation a basic genealogy course II, English research, researching your LDS ancestors, and book of remembrance.

According to seminar planners if there is sufficient demand for either classes, an attempt will be made to schedule them.

Films will be shown each evening and a general assembly is also planned for each evening.

Those interested in attending are asked to pre-register with the ward high priest group leader.

Devotional presented

FILER — Mrs. Elmer Ihler presented the opening devotional service on "I Will Lift Mine Eyes Unto the Hills" to Lutheran Women's Missionary League members Thursday evening.

Mrs. Dorothy Fischer, president of the Utah-Idaho district, was a special guest at the meeting in Peace Lutheran Fellowship Hall and spoke on the work of the leagues including giving scholarships, selling mustard seed booklets and other projects.

Mrs. Fischer also reported on the national convention in St. Paul, Minn., which she had attended. Mrs. Clarence Degner-Hansen, was the delegate from Idaho. Over 8,000 LWML members were at the convention.

Mrs. Dorothy Maxson reported on visits to sick members and nursing members and Mrs. Reuben Lierman reported sending birthday cards to nursing home inmates. The group voted to let the Clover LWML help with a garage and rummage sale at the church.

Mrs. Ihler served refreshments, assisted by her daughter, Connie Thrush.

Auction planned at Kimberly

KIMBERLY — The Idaho unit of the Good Shepherd Auxiliary will have a chuck wagon auction at 11 a.m. Aug. 30 at the Kimberly Lutheran Church.

Gardens produce, baked goods, handwork and white elephants will be sold. Lunch will be available at the chuckwagon. Homemade ice cream and homemade pie will be included in the lunch menu.

Irvin Ellers will serve as auctioneer. All proceeds will go to the four Good Shepherd Homes for the retarded.

Baha'i sponsor program

TWIN FALLS — Baha'i Faith will have a program of music, readings, a talk and slide presentation at 8 p.m. Monday at the YM-YWCA building.

The program will be given by Day-Spring, a group of five young musicians from California, and Day-Star, a group of seven from eastern Washington.

The program is sponsored by Baha'i of Magic Valley and is open to the public. More information is available by calling 324-5946 or 734-8751.

Minister's topic revealed

TWIN FALLS — This week's speaker at the Drive-In Church will be Rev. Douglas Money, minister of the Nazarene Church, Kimberly.

His topic will be "The Devil Made Me Do It" from the text Revelation 12:10-12. Special music will be presented by Mike Pitts.

Drive-In Church is held every Sunday morning at 8 during the summer months at the Motor-Vue Drive-In Theater, regardless of the weather.

The service on Aug. 31 will conclude the Drive-In Church services for this summer.

Service times announced

TWIN FALLS — The subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at the Christian Science Church is "Mind." Services will be held at 160 Ninth Ave. E., Twin Falls, at 11 a.m. Sundays and 8 p.m. Wednesdays. The reading room at 115 Second St. W. is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Nazarenes set musical service

TWIN FALLS — First Church of the Nazarene, 401 Sixth Ave. N., will present to the general public a musical special beginning at 7 p.m. on Sunday evening.

There will be chorus time, congregational singing, solos, duets, quartets, and special instrumental numbers by the King's Brass and others.

Following the all-musical service there will be a time of fellowship and refreshments for those who desire to join.

On Aug. 31st one simultaneous service will be conducted from 10:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. The children will meet in the fellowship hall to view "The Selfish Giant" as the adults conduct their morning workshop at the same time.

At the 7 p.m. service a film entitled "In the Presence of Mine Enemies" will be shown to the congregation. This film has to do with a prisoner of war who lived through the tortuous months of incarceration after having been shot down over Vietnam during the war and his reunion with his family. You are invited.

Guru's request denied by zoners

DENVER (UPI) — The Divine Light Mission will not be allowed to open a shelter for 13 followers of the Guru Maharaj in a residential section near the Capitol, city zoning officials said Wednesday.

A department spokesman said an appeals board unanimously upheld an administrator who originally issued the prohibition because the shelter, called the "Paraman," did not conform to zoning regulations.

The neighborhood in which the shelter would be located was zoned for one-family residential units and other structures such as a church, officials said.

Clover women observe 60th year with show

FILER — Charter members and guests wandered "Down Memory Lane" at a 60th anniversary celebration of the Clover Lutheran Women's Missionary League in the fellowship hall.

Guests were seated at quartet tables which were centered with lavender and white gingham baskets holding lavender petunias. Small sachets were given as favors to carry out the theme of "Lavender and Old Lace."

Mrs. Gary Schroeder welcomed guests, and Mrs. Raymond Ohnsenken gave a reading "The Ladies Aid." A group of ladies sang a song "Memories of Yesterday." The song had been written by Mrs. Edgar Meyer who said frausenken is German for ladies aid.

The Clover group was known as the Clover Ladies Aid until the name was changed to Lutheran Women's Missionary League when it joined the national fellowship.

Mrs. Vernon Lassen played background music and accompanied group singing of oldtime favorite songs. Mrs. Schroeder narrated a style show of fashions dating as far back as a 1910 white lace and eyelet dress modeled by Mrs. Richard Nystrom. Her white shoes were also from the 1910 period, and she carried a doll in a child's long christening dress and placed it in a wooden high chair dating back to 1901.

Mrs. Robert Schroeder modeled a 1913 wedding dress which was made and worn by Mrs. Ernest Reinke at her wedding. She also wore a gold bracelet which had been given the bride in 1911 on her 21st birthday.

Mrs. Meyer wore an off-white tulle evening dress of circa 1915, and Mrs. Martin Roessler modeled a black beaded "Tapper" dress of the 1920's, complete with swinging tassels, silver evening bag and black silk stockings.

Mrs. Elmer Schroeder wore a wedding dress worn by Mrs. Albert Schroeder, Twin Falls, for her 1926 wedding, and Mrs. Edwin Meyer wore a 1927 lace wedding dress with a long train and waxed orange blossom bouquet.

Six charter members of the group were introduced by Mrs. Lyle Lierman, president. They included Mrs. Anna Schroeder, Mrs. Ida Dammenfeld, Mrs.

Ancient Bible found

BONN, West Germany — A 37-year-old school teacher said Wednesday that he had discovered an original Gutenberg Bible in a church attic in Immenhausen, West Germany, and that experts have confirmed its authenticity.

There are only 47 known Gutenberg-Bibles extant, out of 150 that Johann Gutenberg printed with movable type in 1455. The one Friedrich Karl Bass claims to have found an Immenhausen would be almost priceless.

Methodism 'sick'

By DAVID E. ANDERSON UPI Religion Writer

Evangelicals within the United Methodist Church, unhappy at what they consider the denomination's liberal drift, have floated a plan for making two of the church's seminaries evangelical.

The proposal was suggested by the Rev. Edmund Robb, pastor of St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Lubbock, Tex., at the annual Good News Convocation, a gathering of United Methodist theological conservatives.

"United Methodism is a sick denomination," Robb told the convocation, adding later that: "I am convinced that our seminaries bear a major portion of the responsibility."

"If we have a sick church it is largely because we have sick seminaries."

"According to Robb, most United Methodist seminaries — there are presently 14 — are in a state of denial about their denominational study group to cut back to 10 — are committed to contemporary theological thought."

"We have seen them evolve from orthodoxy to classical liberalism, to neo-orthodoxy, to existentialism. With the bankruptcy of theistic existentialism, came the advent of secular theology."

In addition, Robb said, Methodist's pluralism is the idea of the church as an umbrella for liberals and evangelicals — is a one-way street; graduates of evangelical colleges are told to go to a liberal seminary "for balance," Robb asked.

"When is a graduate of a liberal college told by the establishment to go to a conservative seminary for balance?" Robb asked.

CHICAGO — Almost half the nation's 300 Roman Catholic bishops took part in specially called regional meetings recently to discuss anti-abortion strategy.

The more than 140 bishops agreed that pursuit of a constitutional amendment was their best hope of relief from what they consider intolerable legal permissiveness regarding abortion.

The unusual special meetings were called with a view to the forthcoming U.S.

Eight ends with promise

WASHINGTON — After a two-year fight, the Right to Life Movement has won a promise from a House Judiciary subcommittee for hearings on a proposed constitutional amendment to limit or ban abortion. Most observers believe the movement is still a long way from their goal of overturning the Supreme Court decision that legalized the procedure.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., the liberal chairman of the Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional rights, agreed to hearings on the abortion controversy, reportedly under pressure from Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., of the full committee.

Edwards has resisted efforts of the Right to Life Movement to convene hearings on a possible constitutional ban on abortion. These efforts began almost from the moment the Supreme Court on Jan. 22, 1973, declared abortion a matter to be decided by a woman and her doctor.

Thus abortion foes greeted Edwards' capitulation as an

Ford approves travel agenda

VAIL, Colo. (UPI) — President Ford has approved a travel agenda for nearly every weekend in the next two months that will take him to all regions of the country, aides said today.

He will not resume foreign travel until late November, when he journeys to China, a trip expected to spill over into early December, with other stops in Asia.

In route to this Rocky Mountain vacation retreat nearly two weeks ago, Ford said "between now and the election, I intend to spend my time primarily being President. I am going to maximize my time on the job."

But aides said Ford has decided to follow his past pattern of making appearances at Republican fundraisers all over the country.

On his way back to Washington this weekend, he will visit a hydroelectric plant at the Lake Dam in Montana and spend the night in Chicago where he will speak Monday morning at a hardware conference.

Later in the week he will go to Milwaukee for a luncheon with news media executives and appear before a White House conference on domestic policy.

After returning to the White House Monday night, he will deal with the ongoing energy and grain disputes, vetoing Congress' six-month extension of domestic oil price controls, and meeting with various principals involved in the union boycott of Russian-bound grain.

On Labor Day weekend, Ford will travel to Portland, Maine, and Newport, R.I., to drum up support in New England.

On Sept. 4 and 5, he has appearances in Seattle, Portland, Ore., and Sacramento. The following week, on Sept. 12 and 13, Ford goes to St. Louis, will stop somewhere in Kansas and then go to Dallas.

Ford returns to California for four days later in September, stopping first in Oklahoma and then going on to Los Angeles, Pepperdine University, Pebble Beach, Stanford University and San Francisco in a four-day period starting Sept. 19.

Plants supported

CHICAGO — A majority of the public favors building more nuclear power plants to ease the U.S. energy shortage, according to a poll taken by the Louis Harris organization.

A majority of those polled, however, regarded radioactive-waste disposal the biggest worry in nuclear power proliferation.

The survey was released in Chicago Thursday by the Council on Energy Independence, a group of engineers and lawyers who work for utility companies. The survey was taken for Ebasco Services Inc., a power plant construction company.

important victory, although the congressman has not yet set a date for the hearings. They may not get underway until late this year or next spring.

A more immediate... and crucial test for the anti-abortion group is shaping up in the Senate, where the Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional amendments, chaired by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., is expected to vote on various... proposed... constitutional amendments by the first week in October.

The subcommittee has before it a variety of amendments, including one that would turn the matter over to the states and another that would ban abortion with certain exceptions such as in cases of rape or incest.

But a spokesman for Bayh said the subcommittee deliberations are expected to concentrate on the trust test of anti-abortion sentiment — the amendments that would prohibit abortion except to prevent the death of the mother.

Thus abortion foes greeted Edwards' capitulation as an

Samples loot

YAKIMA, Wash. (UPI) — Police said they caught a beer truck thief because he stopped to sample the loot.

The truck was stolen Thursday while driver Bill Jeffries was making a tavern delivery and was spotted by another driver in a nearby town two hours later.

Police said they arrived at the scene, found the culprit inside the truck guzzling the beer.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices opened mixed in moderate trading Friday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.47 at 791.22 shortly after the opening bell.

But advances led declines, 161 to 79, among the more than 340 issues crossing the floor.

Government reports.

Thursday gave the strongest evidence yet of the worst recession in the post-World War II period has ended, but investors were unsettled by a Commerce Department announcement that the July Consumer Price Index climbed 1.2 per cent, or an annual rate of 14.4 per cent.

The good and bad news fueled fears on Wall Street that high inflation may hamper or even abort the economic recovery now underway.

After the market closed, the Federal Reserve Board reported the nation's money supply fell by $1 billion during the latest reporting week and loan demand at New York's leading banks dropped by $25 million.

The favorable report indicated the Fed's recent move to hold down the money supply by tightening credit is working. The big decline came as a surprise to many Wall Street observers who had anticipated still further upward pressure on interest rates.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am able to appreciate the wisdom of your advice to the girl who was reluctant to tell her fiance that she had undergone an abortion before they met.

The adage "honesty is the best policy" can, in some cases, hold nothing but regret for the wide-eyed innocent who is eager to start married life with no secrets.

As a naive 19-year-old, I confessed to my fiance that there was someone in my life before I met him. And I foolishly told him who it was.

Thirty years and four adult children later, my husband still throws this man in my face periodically, even though I have been a devoted and faithful wife.

How much better off we both would have been had I not made that confession.

He doesn't forget

I hope you will print this for others who might be inclined to tell all. Silence is indeed golden.

IDIOT WAR BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Silence is not always golden. It is sometimes "guilt."

DEAR ABBY: I would like to be cremated when I die. Is that possible? I am a Catholic.

Also how much is involved, moneywise? Please answer in your column. There must be others wanting the same information. Thank you.

WANTS CREMATION

DEAR WANTS: Catholics may now be cremated. The cost will depend upon your funeral director, but it shouldn't be too expensive.

Women can keep maiden names

BOSTON (UPI) — Women will be able to retain their maiden names after marriage under legislation approved Wednesday by the Massachusetts Senate.

The bill also would allow women to assume a combination of their maiden name and the husband's name at the time of marriage. And children of the marriage could assume the name of either parent or a combination of their names. The bill now goes to the House.

DEAR ABBY: Venereal disease is now SECOND on the list of communicable diseases. The flu is the common cold.

Most people don't know that if V.D. goes untreated, it can affect the heart, and spinal cord, and can eventually lead to death.

The National Community Service Corps has established a national hotline that can be called FREE from anywhere in the U.S.A.

It is operated mostly by teenagers who have all the answers concerning V.D., including the symptoms to look for as well as where to go for free examination and treatment in your own community.

The number to call is 1-800-523-1885.

Groups to organize

TWIN FALLS — Camp Fire Girls will be surveying Twin Falls elementary schools to determine how many girls are interested in joining the organization, according to Mrs. Jerry Hillman, executive director.

Mrs. Hillman said she thinks the survey will be conducted within the first two weeks of school. She said girls will be given a form to take home and fill out, indicating whether or not they are interested in Camp Fire. She asked that parents help the girls fill out the forms and see that they are returned.

Camp Fire Girls are open to all girls between the ages of six through high school, Mrs. Hillman said. She said anyone interested in joining who does not receive a survey questionnaire may call or write the Camp Fire office, 634 Addison Ave. W., Twin Falls.

Plant scrubbers in question

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Power Co.'s proposed coal-fired power plant can meet federal sulfur dioxide emission standards without having to install expensive "scrubbers" to remove the pollutant, according to company data.

However, the equipment still may be made mandatory under a proposed regulation of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare. The regulation, which the department's board of trustees will consider adopting next month, would require utilities to use the "best available technology" to control pollution from coal-fired plants.

Under federal regulations, new coal-fired plants must not release more than 1.2 pounds of sulfur dioxide for every million BTUs (a heat unit) of energy produced. Unless high energy, low-sulfur coal is burned, scrubbers must be installed to meet the standard. In the past, although Idaho Power officials had not been planning scrubbers for the plant, they also had not been sure the Black Butte coal they have contracted would be high enough quality to meet the standard.

But in testimony before the Idaho Public Utilities Commission earlier this month, power company witnesses presented data which showed the federal standard could be met.

To meet the standard, coal with an 0.6 per cent sulfur content would have to produce at least 10,000 BTUs of energy per pound. According to the testimony of M.L. Nielsen, geologist and witness for Idaho Power, some of the coal in the mine had a sulfur content of nearly one per cent.

Minidoka Dam plans aired

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

ACEQUIA — Plans for expanded power and recreational facilities were presented to Cassia County officials and guests Thursday at Minidoka Dam.

A similar tour was held Tuesday for Minidoka County officials.

Bill Schaefer, power plant superintendent, said the Bureau of Reclamation has begun a two-year feasibility study of a project to rehabilitate and enlarge the dam. Rep. George Hansen recently estimated the project could cost $12.8 million.

The plant now has a capacity of 15,500 kilowatts. The present plant would be replaced by a new two-unit plant south of the present one toward Blanchard Falls. The new plant would have a capacity of 35,000 kilowatts.

The present plant would remain as a national historical building. It was placed on the federal register last summer because it is the first power plant constructed by the Bureau of Reclamation.

Public tours will begin next summer, with a museum planned later.

The dam was completed in 1906 with the first water released for irrigation in June, 1907.

The first five electrical units went into operation in 1909 to provide power for three irrigation lifts at Declo. They had a generating capacity of 7,500 kilowatts.

A sixth unit brought the capacity to 10,000 in the 1920s and additional of the last one raised it to 15,500 during World War II.

The dam spillway is 4,700 feet long, Schaefer said, backing water up 12 miles and having active storage of 96,000 acre-feet.

It provides electricity for all the surrounding areas except Oakley, unneeded power being sold to Bonneville Power Co.

He said the peak electric load in summer is 110,000 kilowatt hours and the power plant can provide only 15 per cent of that.

He said the dam is kept full in the summer during irrigation, then is lowered about 5 feet in winter to reduce ice pressure.

Most of the dam is built of solid concrete over bedrock, Schaefer said, but a part of it is on earth fill. Water comes through the dam at the rate of 20,000 cubic feet per second in the spring, he said.

A major reason for the tour was to stir the thoughts of local people on development of Milner Park facilities.

The Bureau of Reclamation took over the park from the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife on July 1. Schaefer said the bureau is "learning recreation from scratch."

ROBIN JEWETT
... wins title

Gooding miss crowned queen

JEROME — Robin Jewett, Gooding, was crowned the 1976 Jerome County Fair and Rodeo queen during the final night of rodeo activities in Jerome Thursday night.

Miss Jewett, 18, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Jewell, received her crown and flowers during half-time activities from reigning queen Sherri Muir.

Cindy Scheer, Jerome, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Scheer, was named runner-up. Miss Scheer and Miss Jewett were the only two women competing for the title.

Janice Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nelson, was named junior princess. First runner-up spot went to Lorrie Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black, and second runner-up was Sandy Churchman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Churchman. Cathie Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cummings, was named Miss Congeniality.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cummings, was named Miss Congeniality.

Jeff Copenhaver, Seaside, Ore., with a record time of 8.6 seconds, took the top prize in the calf roping competition at the final night of rodeo activities.

Holding on to second place with a time of 9.6 seconds was Dave Brock, Pueblo, Colo. In the bareback riding first place went to Bruce Ford, Greeley, Colo., with 70 points. Second place went to four-times world champion Joe Alexander, Cora, Wyo.

Clyde Longfellow, Kendrick, and Wes Hortsog, Craig, Colo., share first place in the saddle bronc competition with both men receiving 65 points.

In the steer wrestling competition, Lance Robinson, Farmington, Utah, held the lead with a time of 4.9 seconds. Second place went to a Twin Falls cowboy Bob Munroe with 6.3 seconds.

Lynette Sanders, Ogden, Utah, was first in the barrel racing with Lana Brackenbury, Jerome, and Sandy Curcio tied for second place.

The fair officially closes tonight with the 4-H awards assembly. Activities will continue Saturday with the fat stock sale at noon and the Wood River Jamboree in the rodeo arena at 2 p.m.

New to this year's fair will be a carcass competition. All beef sold at the fat stock sale will be slaughtered at independent meat co. in Twin Falls. The carcasses of these animals will be evaluated by a packer-buyer and winners will be announced at a viewing to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Produce 'best'

FAIRFIELD — Displays of home grown produce at the Cassia County Fair are the best ever, Ethel Lee, county agent's secretary, said Friday.

She said the 4-H exhibits are comparatively small but the American Legion Hall where the fair opened Thursday is filled withноперспективные exhibits.

Exhibits were judged Thursday and a style show and horse show were conducted today.

Quality judging of livestock begins at 10 a.m. Saturday followed by showmanship with the fat livestock sale scheduled for 2:30 p.m. The awards assembly will be held after the sale. Both events are at the livestock arena at the forest service office.

Saturday will be the highlight of other fair activities sponsored by the Legion and the chamber of commerce, with a beard judging contest and announcement of the winner of the snow judging contest. These events will be followed by a countywide parade, Mrs. Lee said.

There also will be wheelbarrow and horseshoe pitching contests, a western dance Saturday night in the Legion Hall and a breakfast from 7 to 9 a.m. Sunday at the firehouse. Kids games, more horseshoes, log cutting, log weight and scale guessing contests follow on Sunday, including a greased pole climb and chicken scramble.

Oakley teen arrested

OAKLEY — An Oakley teen-ager was arrested early today, about 30 minutes after an attempted safe burglary here.

Eddie Nelson, 19, is in the Cassia County jail, Burley. He was arrested at his home in Oakley about 2:30 a.m. today by B.F.P. Crystal, sheriff's deputy.

Nelson is charged with first degree burglary of the Idaho Power Co. in Oakley.

According to Deputy Don Taylor, Nelson was observed in the area shortly before 2 a.m.

He said other "information and investigation" led to Nelson's arrest. The front door of the Idaho Power building had been pried open. The burglar left by a window, apparently frightened off by noise outside.

Crystal said the handle was broken off the safe but it had been reopened.

Jerome sewage plant continues to draw controversy with a BTU value of less than 10,000.

But on a weighted average, the coal in the mine had a sulfur content somewhat under 0.5 per cent and a BTU value of 9,675, he said. That means the coal is of high enough quality to meet U.S. Environmental Protection Agency standards without scrubbers.

In other testimony, Dr. J.L. York, an environmental consultant to the power company, said that different seams of coal could be mixed to insure the standards are consistently met.

Even so, the equipment could still be required under a proposed state regulation. On Sept. 18, the board of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare will consider adopting the proposal which requires the best available pollution control equipment for coal-fired plants in the state.

Even if the controversial regulation is adopted, however, the state would not necessarily require scrubbers to be installed, according to Dr. Lee Stokes, head of HAW's environmental division. While environmental groups and the U.S. government contend that this equipment is a proven means of removing up to 95 per cent of sulfur dioxide pollutants, electric industry spokesmen say it is costly and unreliable and creates other types of pollution problems.

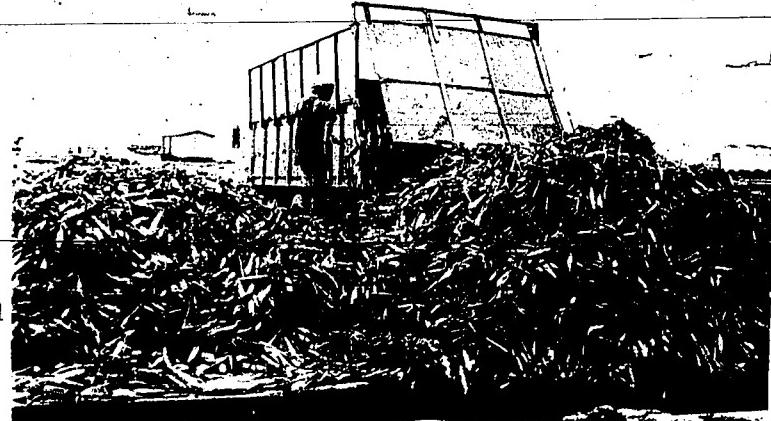

Stokes said the department would have to be "reasonable" and interpret "best available technology" to mean "best technology adequately demonstrated." He said HAW is now investigating the viability of scrubbers for pollution control but has not drawn a conclusion yet on the matter.

When the department receives an application from Idaho Power to construct the plant, he said it will have to reach a decision on the matter within two months, if the proposal is in effect.

Stokes did not know when the power company's application might be made.

Under the proposal the best available equipment would only have to be installed on plants under construction. Plants already built would not have to change their equipment to continuously meet the "best available" standard, he said.

Corn pack starts

MOUNDS of corn were being unloaded and pushed onto conveyors at Green Giant plant at Buil as the 1976 corn pack got under way Thursday. Plant officials are hoping for continued warm weather to mature the late plantings.

Minidoka lists activities

RUPERT — Booth work began this morning and a style show opens activities tonight for the Minidoka County Fair.

There will be more open class exhibits than in previous years, said Marshi Creason, home extension agent. She said 4-H exhibits will be about the same.

Mrs. Creason said the number of 4-H members in Minidoka County just under 500 was steady but that projects had slipped in numbers, perhaps because of the economy or the short summer.

There are about 100 FFA members in livestock and crops.

There will be a flower show, something the fair lacked last year.

Another change is in concessions. Alvin Keller, Paul, will have his usual concession stand. In recent years it has been the exclusive concession.

This year, however, the Sparks 4-H Club will have a watermelon and ice cream booth.

Mrs. Creason said numerous commercial exhibits are entered.

"We may run out of room," she said, but added that she would like to see a lot of people bring in open class exhibits such as produce, animals and home economics.

She pointed out that there is action will end with the fat stock sale Wednesday. The home economics contests will end with demonstrations Tuesday afternoon.

Entertainment includes the Barbershoppers Monday evening, the River Reelers Square Dancers Tuesday and the Old Time Fiddlers Wednesday.

Although the exhibits go down on Thursday, that is also the opening of the Miniature Rodeo for youngsters. It will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Enrollment up at CSI

TWIN FALLS — Summer enrollment was up this year at the College of Southern Idaho, admission records show.

According to Dr. Don L. Keith, admissions and records director, 440 persons took summer classes.

Last year, 303 persons attended the summer session, he said.

Of those enrolled, 347 were Twin Falls County residents and 41 were from Jerome County, with 49 from other counties and 3 out-of-state students, Keith reported.

The summer students were enrolled for 2,524 credit hours. Keith said, equalling 360 full-time equivalent figures were available for last year.

A total of 270 of the students were registered as full-time students, with 170 attending classes part-time, Keith reported.

New Jerome plant stressed

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Jerome must either build a new waste treatment plant or close its doors to future growth or development, according to Charles Hancock, mayor.

Hancock said at a city council meeting this week, "The people of Jerome have got to make up their minds where this sewer plant is going. We have to have a new sewer plant. The one we have is worn out. It's up to the residents. If they don't want the new sewer, we'll have to put up a sign at the city limits saying 'no more people allowed.' The city will stop issuing building permits and will just close the whole thing off."

Hancock's statement came following protests from Jerome residents over another proposal to build the new waste water treatment plant next to the present plant.

Hancock said the paper work, community involvement to get a new waste water treatment plant in Jerome has been going on for two years now and it has cost the city up to $10,000 to keep this going and "lapasphere." This is your money the city is spending.

"At the rate of inflation, the cost of this thing is continuing to climb. The creamy (Ida Gem Creamery) has to come in for 20 per cent of this cost and if the price gets too far out of line, the creamy won't be able to afford it and they will close their doors and shut the plant down," Hancock said.

David Meyers, engineer for CH2M, Boise, presented the latest proposal for the new plant, which would involve cutting back service areas originally proposed and locating the plant next to the present plant.

The new proposal was recommended by the Environmental Protection Agency and the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare after the controversy over the location of the plant was referred to them for a recommendation.

Still the most favorable proposal, according to Meyers, is locating the plant 51 acres of land southwest of Jerome which the city holds an option on.

However, because of the major controversy which developed between the council and residents of the area, the city's plans to build the plant there have been at a standstill, pending the recommendations of the EPA and HAW.

Vocing their opposition Tuesday night were residents in the area of the present sewer plant who do not want the new plant next to them.

Meyers said it had been recommended to us by the regulatory agencies that perhaps our original service area proposal was too much for the future potential growth of Jerome. We had projected a plant which would provide for a service area that would eventually contain 50 to 60,000 people."

He said the new proposal calls for building the plant around the existing site. However, there is not enough room and "more" land would have to be acquired in the vicinity.

"We are still looking at a total of 40 acres to allow for a buffer zone around the plant and for future expansion. The plant would still be of the original design, with a capacity of 11,000 to 12,000 people and with the ability to add on to it as needed in the future."

"Our major problem will be having to provide life stations and pumping for some areas," Meyers said.

He said the plant could not be served by a gravity flow stream it would curtail development west of the plant and make it less desirable for industry to locate in the area.

Meyers said the state health department has also made a complete turnaround and has rescinded its initial requirement for winter storage of the treated effluent and will now permit year around discharge into the canal."

Meyers said canal discharge year around would save the city over $1 million. However, the canal company had earlier refused to let the city continue to use the canal for discharge.

Meyers said if an agreement could be worked out with the canal company, a pressure line would have to be run from the plant to the Snake River for discharge of the treated effluent.

The City Council will have a public hearing on the new proposal before any decision is made, according to the mayor. Hancock also said in our best judgment, this is the only way we can go. This is the only way out and believe me this has not been an easy decision.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 23, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to use considerable care and caution in business matters. Showing a diplomatic attitude with others brings fine results. Keep in a cheerful frame of mind.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Attend to those accumulated duties instead of becoming involved in something new. Make plans for the coming week.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 18) You want to contact friends who can do a big favor but this is not the right day for such. Think of your pocketbook.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to get into public work that is difficult during the busy week. A good time to study financial matters.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Fine day for studying new ideas that are workable. Putting one in operation soon could be very profitable.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use your own good judgment today and get excellent results. Try to please loved one who is not feeling up to par at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Meet with associates and thresh out any misunderstandings quickly and make the future brighter and more profitable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have many duties to perform and you should attend to them instead of spending time with one who gossips. Keep poised.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to engage in your favorite hobby. You have creative ideas that could be profitable in the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Give more thought and attention to the situation at home and make it more satisfying and ideal. Stop worrying.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 30) Be sure to use extreme care in motion. Using sarcasm with others could prove very bad for you, so keep quiet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Give more attention to financial affairs now so that you can meet important bills. Consult an expert for advice.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take time to engage in some recreational activity with congenals who are cheerful. Take health treatment you need.

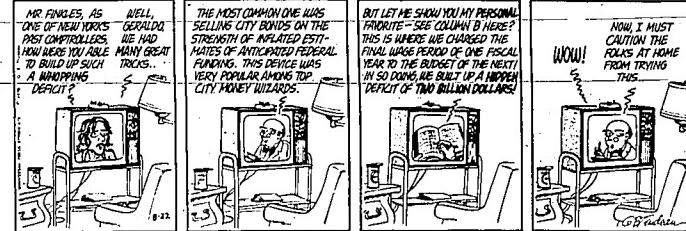

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she is a compassionate person who could be a great boon to humanity. The education should be directed along philosophical lines. Give good religious and ethical training and much affection early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jerome schedules best ball tourney

JEROME — The Jerome Country Club will host a weekend two-man best ball tournament Saturday and Sunday.

Participants may play with foursomes of their choosing and call for convenient tee-off times Saturday. The field will be divided into three flights and assigned tee-off times for Sunday.

The tournament committee will close entries at 80 teams. A six-stroke difference is maximum for two-man teams.

Titant family reunited

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston Red Sox pitcher Luis Tiant quietly was reunited with his parents at Logan International Airport Thursday night, the first time the family has been together in 15 years.

Tiant, accompanied by his wife and three children, embraced his parents, who live in Cuba, warmly as they debarred from their flight from Chicago and spoke briefly with them in Spanish before chauffering them away in a blue Cadillac.

The reunion was made possible in a meeting earlier this year between Sen. Edward W. Brooke, D-Mass., and Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Tiant last saw his mother, Rosalia, in 1968 in Mexico City. He had not seen his father, Luis, for 15 years. Neither of his parents ever have seen him play in the major leagues although he has been pitching since 1965.

NFL player council called to session

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Player representatives of the 32 National Football League teams Thursday were summoned to a meeting in Chicago Sunday to discuss the stalemate union contract talks with the owners.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, declined to say whether a strike vote might be in prospect but he notified the union representatives "we have to determine our future course of action."

He also pointed out that despite a number of recent meetings with the owner's Management Council, "no substantive offer is on the table."

The players association, which called a presser strike a year ago, has been without a contract since early 1974. Last year's strike ended when the players decided to report to training camps midway during the exhibition season with no new contract.

Hole-in-one

Troy Frank became one of the youngest golfers to ever record a hole-in-one at Twin Falls muni.

The 14-year-old used a six-iron to accomplish the feat on the par-three, 153-yard fourth hole. Witnesses were Neil Green, Vey Gish and Al Nelson.

Minnesota names coach

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Jim Dutcher, assistant basketball coach at the University of Michigan for the past three years, Thursday signed a five-year contract as head coach at the University of Minnesota.

Paul Giel, Minnesota's athletic director, said Dutcher, 42, would be paid a salary of $25,000 a year.

Conigliaro retires again

NAHANT, Mass. (UPI) — Tony Conigliaro, one-time star outfielder for the Boston Red Sox who was nearly blinded in one eye when beaten in 1967, retired again from baseball Thursday after an aborted comeback attempt.

Conigliaro, who tried to rejoin the Red Sox this season as a designated hitter, said he was quitting and has no plans for returning as a player, coach or manager.

Curtis to see action

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Linebacker Mike Curtis, the old man of the Colts at 32 years of age, will make his first start of the pre-season Friday night in Baltimore's home opener against the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers.

Couch Ted Marchibroda said Curtis did not play in the Colts' first two exhibition games because "We know what he can do, and we wanted to see the younger kids play."

Minico board OK's 6 new teacher contracts

RUPERT — Contracts have been approved for six new teachers in the Minidoka County School District.

The school board approved four student teachers from Idaho State University to work in the district. It also awarded a six-day leave to two teachers and a six-month leave of absence to the superintendent's secretary.

The new teachers are Gail Easton for second grade at Paul Kirk Straderling for English and reading at Minico High School, Gaylene Steele for reading under a federal program, Mary Anne Hanzel for special education at Paul Alice Sue Hanzel for fourth grade at Paul and Steven Boddy as graphic artist with the Migrant Education Resource Center in Rupert.

Student teachers include E. Gerald Chugg in English and drama; James Dalton in vocal music, Wanda B. Stimpson in elementary education and library science and Janine Shighara in earth science.

A six-month leave was granted to Lila Warburton, Supt. Darrell Hatfield's secretary, for health reasons. The board also granted permission to the Heyburn Lions Club to use the Minico High School auditorium for a fund-raising style show.

Handbook changes approved

Awards at Gooding

RUPERT — School administrators in Minidoka County have gained leeway in disciplinary actions, but trustees show no interest in a code of conduct for themselves.

Two changes in the student handbook were adopted by the Minidoka County School District board of trustees this week at the request of Glen Maughn, principal of Minico High School.

The changes were on discipline for drinking, intoxicant and use of tobacco. They involved changing a single word in two places.

Previously, the handbook stated that a student "shall" be suspended when caught a third time using tobacco. The board agreed to change that rule to "may" be suspended.

In case of an intoxicated student, the administrators now are allowed choice on notifying law authorities. Previously the rule required that notification.

Dr. Darrell Hatfield, superintendent for the district, offered a code of conduct for board members. The board took no action. Dr. Hatfield said the only reaction he received was that the board did not need such a code.

Trustees decided to hold a special meeting at the central office in Rupert on Sept. 8 to review some of the board policies.

Shoshone

woman wins

Idaho honor

-SHOSHONE — Mrs. L. M. (Begley) Hatmaker has been named the Idaho winner in the National Allie Chalmers Education Award program.

This is the second time Mrs. Hatmaker has been named state winner for her work in conservation — this year her work as teacher in Shoshone Elementary school as a fifth-grade instructor.

She has taught in the Shoshone system 28 years, having taught a total of 31 years, three of them in Tennessee prior to moving to Idaho in the 1940's.

It was in 1966 that she received the Sears Roebuck Conservation Education award for the state.

She helped organize the Lincoln County Environmental Conservation workshop for fifth grades, which has continued since 1969 and expanded until, by the fall of 1974, it became an overnight workshop for students at the Sawtooth-H-Camp.

She received the Smokey the Bear certificate at the Twin Falls Lion's club in 1972, selected by the Shoshone American Legion to Leaders of Elementary Education in America in 1971-72 school year; was appointed by the Board of Trustees in Shoshone in 1972 to the Quality Assurance Committee which guided and guided the Needs Assessment program, resulting in a federal grant going into its third year.

The proceeds will be used to help send Miss Idaho, Terri Harding, and her parents to the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City.

Miss Idaho's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hatfield, who live in the district. They asked for a one-day leave. The board approved six days of leave for the to make the trip.

In other actions, the board:

— Approved purchase of more expensive Utah coal because the coal being used is becoming more expensive. It burns better and would not entail as much smoke and labor to clean out clinkers. Utah coal is $30 per ton, Wyoming coal is $23.90.

Sent to its attorney a request for severance easement for the LDS seminary at Paul.

Approved tuition for Ramie Gerleman, a special education student, to Laramon, a private school in Denver, at an estimated cost of $20.50 per month for two nine-month sessions. Federal and state grants cover the remaining costs.

Approved a $1 increase to $16.50 in the student activity fee at Minico High to help develop the athletic program for girls.

Approved a $5 lab fee for students in foods lab courses in home economics.

— Awarded a roofing contract to Earl Kaurin, Rupert, for Lincoln School auditorium and agreed-to-buy-materials and have Kaurin do the roofing work at Pershing School. Roofing at Heyburn School will be put to bid again separately.

Goals Minico goal

By SHANE O'NEILL

Times-News writer

RUPERT — The goal of the Minidoka County School District this year is to set some goals.

Supt. Darrell Hatfield told the school board this week that the district should make an assessment of its needs. He established this as the administration's goal for the 1975-76 year.

Trustee Fred Hunter, Rupert, remarked, "I wish you (the goals) were a little more specific."

"I wish I could tell you what they are," Dr. Hatfield replied.

The superintendent had said that he and Doyle Lowder, assistant superintendent, have carried the burden of "administration by crisis."

This year the board agreed to a curriculum director (Floyd Merrill) and a physical education coordinator and athletic director (Michael Erling). Hatfield said this will spread the administrative work.

"Before we start a lot of planning, Dr. Hatfield said, "we need to know where we are."

He pointed out that the last needs assessment of the Minidoka district was in 1967 and it was done by the University of Idaho. He said local people want to have a part in deciding what the district needs.

"It will take a lot of time on the part of the board, teachers, and, of course, the patrons," Hatfield said.

Assessment of existing facilities and programs and deciding what the district should and should not have, "is a large goal in itself," Hatfield stated. "It probably will take most of the year."

The superintendent said the study is expected to be the bulk of the in-service training for teachers.

have to give a ruff and discard. If East won he would not lead from his king of hearts up to dummy's jack-or-give that same ruff and discard.

Of course, South might have worked this play out anyway. Knowing East's type made it easy.

Ask the Jacobs

A reader from Georgia asks what you should lead with:

♦ A ♦ 5 ♦ Q 6 ♦ 10 3 2

Your partner dealt and bid one spade. You can't overcall with one club, so trump, you passed, and there was a raise to two hearts, and a final bid of three no-trump.

There is a temptation to lead diamonds, but we resist the temptation and open the eight of spades. Maybe our club stopper will give us time to get our partner's spades off and running.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobs? Write "Ask the Jacobs" care of this newspaper. Your name must be listed if you want your question published, and we'll receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The oldest expert was holding forth. He remarked, "I always start with a really bad player, and defend against him. His plays are so random that I can't draw real inferences. Give me the predictable man with a little knowledge, and he will belong to me."

Today's hand illustrated this. East was a good, steady, unimaginative player.

South won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds and led a trump to his 10. West took the ace and played a second diamond.

South ruffed and led a trump to dummy. East discarded a small heart. At this point South knew that predictable East must have started with five hearts. This left just one for West. South was sure to make his contract provided West's singleton heart wasn't the king.

South led a heart, finessed his queen successfully and promptly discarded out-three rounds of clubs.

It didn't matter who won the trick -- if West won he would

Shoshone filming completed

SHOSHONE -- A pile of melting ice on the street by the Leigh Keller and George Cook homes Wednesday afternoon was about all that remained of the Walt Disney Production filming.

In downtown Shoshone brilliantly colored advertising on the Grusse Drug Store was thought by some residents attractive enough to become permanent. "Anyway, it has a flare," residents commented.

Generally, however, business was back to normal in Shoshone by mid-afternoon Wednesday after two days of excitement created by filming of "Open Winter," a TV movie set in the 1930 era.

Disney officials stated Shoshone was selected for the town shots due to the type of buildings standing along South Rail Street and courthouse-residential area.

More than 30 Lincoln County residents participated in the film, all of them stating "it was fun" or "delightful."

Businessmen along South Rail Street report Tuesday was a very "slow" day for them, with parking prohibited in some sections and everyone congregating on the courthouse lawn to watch proceedings of the filming.

Grosso Drug Store found business a bit slow Tuesday, too, but more than made up for it Wednesday by starting out at 7:30 a.m. serving sodas to some of the 70 Disney crew members.

Rupert aides award lighting, tennis court bids

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council awarded lighting and tennis court bids for Neptune Park and Park Park next summer.

Parks director said this fall he will negotiate for fencing.

The council held off any decision about installing irrigation lines and seeding the park this fall until it knows the cost of fencing.

Dairy Electric Inc. received the award for the lighting system at a cost of $12,780. Gordon Paving Co. got the council nod for ground preparation and court construction at $7,222.

allow use of Neptune Park next summer.

Parks director said this fall he will only the K Street and 12th Street parks for irrigation lines in the spring.

The Rupert Lions Club is interested in tackling some of the labor at Neptune Park as a club project. Dave Hansen appeared before the council Tuesday to discuss the volunteer work. He said the half-field "is in terrible shape."

Hansen said the club's funds were limited but offered about be used both on the irrigation lines and the fencing. He said it could be put down as kind services in the funded program, but agreed to check after City Clerk Klingenberg said volunteer labor had been rejected for matching grants on the last grant.

Mayor Wendell Johnson remarked, "This is kind of crowding us, pushing it all into one year."

He pointed out that the city had thought it would be rushing to get the project completed in two to three years.

Schab replied that department expenses would still be under what was budgeted for 1975. City Engineer Don estimated

Courtwright

the city's half of the cost at $6,000 for the irrigation lines and seeding.

Councilman Clark Cameron

commented that it would be good to have the park in service next year and Councilman Dwinelle Allred remarked that the volunteer labor was available now.

But as Councilman George McDonald's statement that the irrigation system should be taken up in line with priorities, Allred agreed that the council should wait until we have this other project out of the way."

The council tabled the matter until it meets on the fencing contract.

Major Johnson turned attention to Big Valley Park. He said something should be done about the patches where grass was torn out on the southeast diamond. There was discussion of preventing this but McDonald said it would be sent to the recreation commission for study.

"We want more than chicken wire there," he said.

Shab reminded the council that the commission had made a recommendation last year that would cost several thousand dollars.
